APPELLATE COURT

DOCKET NO. A.C. 46131

ALEX EMRIC JONES, ET AL

CONSTITUTIONALITY NOTICE

The defendants-appellants will raise two issues involving Constitutional law in their brief:

1. The appellants will argue that the compensatory damages awards in this case violate the Fourteenth Amendment's due process clause of the federal Constitution as the awards are wholly unsupported by anything other than arguments of counsel, thereby leaving the appellants with any notice or meaningful opportunity to be heard.
2. The appellants will argue that the trial court's refusal to charge the jury that it had the right to decide both facts and law in this libel case under the direction of the court violated Article First, Section 6 of the State Constitution.
